EDUCATION

Post-Doctoral Research Fellow, sport-related concussion July 2019-June 2021
A.T. Still University- Mesa, AZ

Doctorate of Philosophy in Kinesiology, cognate in Athletic Training August 2015- May 2019
University of Georgia- Athens, GA
Certificate in Interdisciplinary Qualitative Studies
Dissertation: Understanding Factors That Influence Sport-Related Concussion Reporting Behavior

Master of Science in Athletic Training August 2012-August 2014
A.T. Still University- Mesa, AZ
CAATE Accredited Post-Professional Athletic Training Education Program
Thesis: School Nurses' Knowledge, Attitudes, and Beliefs About Academic Accommodations for Student-Athletes Following Sport-Related Concussions

Bachelor of Science in Athletic Training August 2007-May 2011
Linfield College- McMinnville, OR
CAATE Accredited Entry-Level Athletic Training Education Program

CURRENT ACADEMIC APPOINTMENT

San Diego State University Assistant Professor
Exercise and Nutritional Sciences 2021-present

- Instructor for undergraduate pre-athletic training and graduate professional athletic training courses
- Facilitate and collaborate on research initiatives
- Service on committees as related to the department and Athletic Training Program needs

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

A.T. Still University Post-Doctoral Research Fellow
Department of Interdisciplinary Health Sciences 2019-2021

Michelle L. Weber Rawlins, PhD, ATC

- Teaching assistant for post-professional and doctorate of athletic training courses (online and residential)
- Audited the courses of Research Methods and Design (ATRN 8010), Assessment and Management of Complex Patients with Concussion (ATRN 7340), Diagnosis and Management of Neurological Conditions (ATRN 7320), Methods of Data Analysis (ATRN 8020), Quality Improvement and Patient Safety (ATRN 7111), and Qualitative Research Methodology (ATRN 8210)
- Developing and Teaching an Online Course 2020 Certificate Completion
- Administer baseline concussion assessments using C3 Logix, IMPACT, and SWAY balance system
- Mentor graduate students through the research process
- Conduct and develop concussion research line including topics of medical disqualification following concussion, development of a concussion patient-rated outcome measure, among others

University of Georgia
Athens, GA

Doctoral Research Assistant
2015- 2019

- Conducting baseline concussion assessments using CNS Vital signs, Balance Error Scoring System, Y-Balance, SCAT-3, SCAT-5, King-Devick, Sensory Organization Test, and Standardized Assessment of Concussions for all student-athletes under the CARE Consortium grant
- Survey distribution, coordination, and educational intervention development for Mind Matters Challenge grant
- Data entry of participants using QuesGen
- Mentor and coordinate undergraduate laboratory assistants

Desert Edge High School
Goodyear, AZ

Athletic Trainer, Career and Technical Education Instructor
2014-2015

- Medical care for football, soccer, cheerleading, basketball, volleyball, wrestling, swimming, track and field, and tennis
- Assessment, emergency care and rehabilitation for student-athletes in a secondary school setting with musculoskeletal injuries
- Instructor of record for two sports medicine classes (curriculum planning, development, instructing of semester length classes)
- Facility management (cleaning hydroculator, keeping cleaning records to date, ordering, stocking, etc.)
- Heath Occupations Students of America club sponsor. Duties include facilitating meetings, and organizing speakers, field trips, club funds

STI Physical Therapy
Mesa, AZ

Graduate Assistant, Athletic Trainer
2012-2014

- Assessment and rehabilitation for patients in an outpatient setting with musculoskeletal injuries
- Documentation completed utilizing electronic medical records

Michelle L. Weber Rawlins, PhD, ATC

- Facility management (cleaning hydroculator, keeping cleaning records to date, etc.)
- Assessment and utilization of the Functional Movement Screen®

Neuromuscular Laboratory

A.T. Still University – Mesa, AZ

Research Assistant

2013-2014

- Administration of concussion baseline testing utilizing the clinical and computerized balance testing devices (Balance Error Scoring System, VSR Sport, Neurocom) and computerized neurocognitive testing using ImPACT
- Data entry for ongoing research utilizing statistical software program (SPSS)

Anatomy Laboratory

A.T. Still University – Mesa, AZ

Teaching Assistant

2013-2014

- Supervise tutoring sessions for current anatomy students
- Anatomy instructor, using cadaver specimens for high school student workshops

Datalys Center for Sports Injury Research and Prevention

Gilbert Pop Warner Football League – Gilbert, AZ

Lead Research Assistant

2013-2014

- Lead research assistant for a funded national study of youth football injury epidemiology
- Primary liaison between athletes, coaches, parents and research team
- Project and personnel management, such as scheduling and coordination of 8 research assistants
- Data collection and entry into a custom-made youth injury surveillance system
- Provision of acute sport-related injury care for youth football players

GRANT FUNDING

Medical Disqualification Following Concussion: Insight into the Patient Perspective

Funding Agency: Far West Athletic Trainer's Association

PI: Michelle L. Weber Rawlins, PhD, ATC

Role: Principal investigator, 2023 (Contributed to idea formulation, grant application)

Status: Funded ($3,000)

The purpose of this study is to explore former collegiate student-athletes' lived experience with medical disqualification following concussion using a phenomenological qualitative approach.

Michelle L. Weber Rawlins, PhD, ATC

Creatine Supplementation in Concussion Recovery

Funding Agency: School of Exercise and Nutritional Science Student Research Grant

PI: Michaela Renfro

Role: Faculty Mentor, 2023 (Contributed to idea formulation, and grant application)

Status: Funded ($1,966)

The purpose of this study is to compare creatine use with non-creatine use in concussion recovery.

Does Health Literacy Predict Concussion Care Seeking Intentions and Behavior?

Funding Agency: School of Exercise and Nutritional Science Student Research Grant

PI: Julia Ng

Role: Faculty Mentor, 2023 (Contributed to idea formulation, and grant application)

Status: Funded ($2,000)

The purpose of our study is to determine if health literacy predicts concussion care seeking intentions and behavior.

Medical Disqualification Following Concussion: Insight into the Patient Perspective

Funding Agency: SDSU Seed Grant Program

PI: Michelle L. Weber Rawlins, PhD, ATC

Role: Principal investigator, 2022 (Contributed to idea formulation, grant application)

Status: Not funded ($7,348)

The purpose of this study is to explore former collegiate student-athletes' lived experience with medical disqualification following concussion using a phenomenological qualitative approach.

Readiness Optimization through Telemedicine Care

Funding Agency: U.S. Department of Defense

PI: Kara Radzak, PhD, ATC

Role: Collaborator, 2022 (Contributed to grant application)

Status: Not funded ($2,265,343)

The overall purpose of this grant was to enhance the efficacy of healthcare operations through clinician decision support algorithms-based telemedicine for musculoskeletal injury evaluation and rehabilitation and ultimately increase the medical readiness of the Warfighter.

The Influence of Social Determinants of Health on Concussion Care Seeking Behaviors in Historically Underrepresented Ethnic and Racial Groups

Funding Agency: New Investigator Grant, NATA Research and Education Foundation

PI: Michelle L. Weber Rawlins, PhD, ATC

Role: Principal investigator, 2022 (Contributed to idea formulation, grant application, data collection, data analysis, manuscript development)

Status: Funded ($19,996)

The overall purpose of this grant was to understand how social determinants of health and exploratory factors influence concussion care seeking behavior in historically underrepresented racial and ethnic groups including Latinx, Asian, Black, Indigenous, and Native Hawaiian/Pacific Islanders.

Michelle L. Weber Rawlins, PhD, ATC

Optimizing Concussion Care Seeking (OCCS 2.0): Evaluating a Smart Concussion Education Intervention

Funding Agency: U.S. Department of Defense (CDMRP)

PI: Julianne D. Schmidt, PhD, ATC

Role: Collaborator, 2021 (Assisted with idea formulation, grant application)

Status: Not funded ($2,999,933)

We aim to accelerate the current state of concussion education to include a “Smart” Concussion Education Dashboard with three primary outputs:

- 1) administer strategic individualized concussion education interventions with site tailored information;
- 2) provide aggregate data back to military health and sports medicine professionals;
- 3) cycle data back into machine learning models to adapt over time.

Optimizing Concussion Care Seeking in Military Service Members: Translation to Military Health Contexts

Funding Agency: U.S. Department of Defense

PI: Julianne D. Schmidt, PhD, ATC

Role: Collaborator, 2021 (Assisted with idea formulation, grant application)

Status: Not funded ($4,000,000)

We aim to accelerate the current state of concussion education to include a “Smart” Concussion Education Dashboard with three primary outputs:

- 1) administer strategic individualized concussion education interventions with site tailored information;
- 2) provide aggregate data back to military health and sports medicine professionals;
- 3) cycle data back into machine learning models to adapt over time.

An Examination into Athletic Trainers and Dietitian’s Nutrition Practices for Concussion Patients

Funding Agency: A. T. Still University Warner Grant Fund

PIs: Michelle L. Weber Rawlins, PhD, ATC, Tamara Valovich McLeod, PhD, ATC, FNATA

Role: Principal investigator, 2020 (Contributed to idea formulation, grant application, data collection, data analysis, manuscript development)

Status: Funded ($3,850)

The purpose of this study was to understand nutrition implementation practices, including food and supplements, regarding concussion of athletic trainers and dietitians at the secondary school and collegiate settings.

Medical Disqualification Following Concussion: Insight into the Patient and Clinician Perspectives

Funding Agency: New Investigator Grant, NATA Research and Education Foundation

PI: Michelle L. Weber Rawlins, PhD, ATC

Role: Principal investigator, 2020 (Contributed to idea formulation, and grant application)

Status: Not funded ($19,998)

Michelle L. Weber Rawlins, PhD, ATC

The purpose of this study was to understand the perceptions and processes of medical disqualification following concussion from both the AT and patient perspectives.

Improving Concussion Reporting in High School Student-Athletes: Applying a Theory-Based, Data-Driven, Multimedia Concussion Education Intervention

Funding Agency: NOCSAE

PI: Julianne Schmidt, PhD, ATC

Role: Co-Investigator, 2019 (Assisted with grant application, preliminary data collection, data analysis)

Status: Not funded ($288,000)

The goal of this research was to assess and improve concussion reporting behaviors among high school student athletes using a data-driven multimedia module.

Reliability, Validity, and Responsiveness of the Concussion Quality of Life – Youth Patient Report Outcomes Instrument

Funding Agency: A. T. Still University Warner Grant Fund

PI: Tamara Valovich McLeod, PhD, ATC, FNATA

Role: Co-Investigator, 2019 (Grant application, preliminary data collection, data analysis)

Status: Funded ($10,000)

The purpose of the proposed study was to establish the measurement properties of the Concussion Quality of Life – Youth, including reliability, validity, and responsiveness.

Qualitative Analysis of Factors Affecting Self-Report of Concussion

Funding Agency: U.S. Air Force Summer Faculty Fellowship Program

PIs: Michelle L. Weber, MS, ATC, Chris D'Lauro, PhD

Role: Co-Principal Investigator, 2018 and 2019 (Contributed to idea formulation, grant application, data collection, data analysis, manuscript development)

Status: Funded (2018: $14,800; 2019: $10,800)

The purpose of this proposed study was to explore factors influencing concussion reporting from the United States Air Force Academy cadets' perspective using semi-structured interviews.

Youth Sport Concussion Prevention: An Incentivized Data-Driven Intervention Approach

Funding Agency: Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

PIs: Julianne D. Schmidt, PhD, ATC, and Robert C. Lynall, PhD, ATC

Role: Doctoral Research Assistant, 2017 (Assisted with scientific contribution, preliminary data, idea formation, grant application)

Status: Not funded ($1,634,220)

We proposed to develop and assess the effectiveness of two innovative, data-driven, incentivized interventions aimed at improving a) concussion prevention (primary prevention) and b) concussion reporting and management (secondary prevention).

Understanding Factors Influencing Concussion Reporting Behavior: A Qualitative Analysis

Funding Agency: University of Georgia, Department of Kinesiology, Louise E. Kindig Award

PI: Michelle L. Weber, MS, ATC

Role: Principal Investigator, 2017 (Contributed to idea formulation, application)

Michelle L. Weber Rawlins, PhD, ATC

completion)

Status: Not funded ($998.40)

The purpose of this research was to report how student-athletes describe variables (knowledge, attitudes, subjective norms, perceived behavioral control, social identity) that lead them to report or conceal a concussion.

Perceptions of Concussion Management Among Health Care Professionals

Funding Agency: A.T. Still University Strategic Research Fund (SRF) Program

PI: Cailee E. Welch, PhD, ATC

Role: Co-Investigator, 2014-2015 (Assisted with grant application, data collection and abstract/manuscript development)

Status: Funded ($21,102)

The purpose of this research study was to gain insight on the perceptions of and experiences with concussion management and academic accommodations among various healthcare professionals that serve as the primary providers to student-athletes following sport-related concussion in the secondary school setting.
